THE QUALITY OF THE CHAMPIONS

PIGEON RACING IS EVOLVING.

Whereas for years the classic rhythm - with cocks played every two weeks on races from 300 to 650 km - was the norm, more and more lofts are switching to a weekly deployment of old & yearlings, both cocks and hens.

This change calls for mixtures that closely match the playing system, recovery needs and energy balance of modern racing pigeons.

BEYERS therefore offers a clearly structured range:

- PREMIUM WIDOWHOOD COCKS – a new mixture specifically for cocks deployed weekly.
- PREMIUM WIDOWHOOD HENS – a new mixture developed for hens played weekly or semi-weekly.
- PREMIUM SUPER WIDOWHOOD – the trusted mixture for fanciers who play their cocks according to the classic 2-week system.
- PREMIUM YOUNGSTERS – a targeted mixture for youngsters, both cocks and hens as well as the sliding door system.

WHY 3 WIDOWHOOD MIXTURES FOR OLD & YEARLINGS?

1. Cocks and hens have different nutritional needs.

Hens need a slightly faster metabolism, lower body weight and a finer balance of energy, protein and fibre to stay sharp and controlled.

Cocks are more likely to need sustained power, stable energy reserves and a slightly more robust energy level.

Separate mixtures ensure that both perform optimally within their specific roles in widowhood.

2. Modern weekly game systems require faster recovery.

In many lofts these days, pigeons are played weekly. That requires nutritional blends that:

- are easily digestible,
- support recovery,
- and still are able to build up enough energy in a short time.

Our new PREMIUM WIDOWHOOD COCKS and PREMIUM WIDOWHOOD HENS are specifically designed for this intensive form of play.

3. The classic fortnightly system remains.

Many fanciers remain faithful to the methodology of playing cocks every two weeks. The focus here is on:

- deep energy reserves,
- calm and full recovery,
- and stable strength building.

For this system, PREMIUM SUPER WIDOWHOOD remains the ideal choice.
